

OVER THREE MILLIONS RAISE

Assessment Rolls Turned Over by Assessor Today Shows Increase $3,113,370

BIG HOLDINGS AND OIL WELLS GO UP

Total of County is Now $44,456,395—Equalizers Are Meeting Today

Today County Assessor James Sleeper turned over to the Board of Equalization the assessment rolls for 1913, showing an increase of $3,113,370 in the assessment this year over last year. Orange county's total assessed valuation is now $44,456,395 instead of $41,343,025, which was last year's total.

The county assessor's raise practically assures a lower tax rate than last year. A large share of the increase was made in the oil wells section and in equalizing big holdings with smaller holdings. The natural growth of the county was responsible for a large share of the $3,113,370 raise secured by Sleeper and his competent corps of field deputies.

There was an increase in nearly every road district and in nearly every municipality of the county. One of the big jumps was in personal property collections. These collections are made in the field. Last year the deputies took in personal property collections on a valuation of $1,262,075, and this year the total is $1,491,650.

The supervisors sitting as a board of equalization received the books at noon today, and will continue to sit as a board of equalization for two weeks.

The totals by cities are: Santa Ana, $5,631,215, an increase of $173,175; Orange, $1,547,330, an increase of $35,645; Newport Beach, $75,920, an increase of $3,129; Anaheim, $1,296,340, increase, $71,749; Fullerton, $2,378,150, decrease, $10,000; Huntington Beach, $861,430, decrease, $1,455; Stanton, $629,610, increase, $22,385.

In the totals shown above, two cities, Fullerton and Huntington Beach, show a decrease. As a matter of fact those cities ought to show an increase, and do when the figures on personal property, not included in the above, are presented in the case of Fullerton, and the figures on soldier's exemptions are presented in the case of Huntington Beach.

This year the assessor collected mineral rights taxes on personal property, and in the Fullerton municipality personal property assessment jumped enough to make the real gain $33,725.

Last year few soldier's exemption claims were turned in from the Huntington Beach section. This year the number was enough to cause a slight decrease in the assessment of the city.

By road districts the assessments are:

	1913	1912
Alhambra	$1,352,970	$1,364,525
Anaheim	1,162,225	1,094,870

English Wanted Home Products Used LONDON, July 7.—Because they bought two portable school buildings of German make, instead of English, the education authorities of Willesden are being subjected to all sorts of abuse. But they defended themselves from the charge of lack of patriotism on the ground that English manufacturers could not supply the kind they wanted. "Our choice was limited to the English corrugated iron rooms or to the German type of wooden buildings," explained Secretary Jobbins. "We simply chose the latter because they are warmer in winter, cooler in summer, more hygienic, and easier to put together and take to pieces."

BIG PITTSBURGH BANK CLOSED DOORS

Wall Street Ticklers Say Nothing General in the Incident

COLLATERAL WENT DOWN; BANK HIT

About $30,000,000 Tied Up by Order of Assistant Comptroller

PITTSBURGH, July 7.—Thirty million dollars in deposits are tied up by order of the assistant comptroller of the currency closing the First and Second National Bank, the second largest in Pittsburgh. The First and Second National banks recently consolidated. A majority of the stock was held by J. S. and W. S. Kuhn interests. The capital is $3,400,000, with surplus and profits stated as $1,950,000.

Also Badly Hit McKEESPORT, Pa., July 7.—The First National Bank of McKeesport closed its doors as a result of the failure of the First and Second National Bank of Pittsburgh.

Nothing General NEW YORK, July 7.—The Pittsburgh bank failure did not disturb Wall Street. It is regarded as an isolated case with no bearing on the general situation. Stock tickers carried the following: "The failure of the First and Second National of Pittsburgh has been expected for some time. It is not regarded as important. It is due to loans on collateral that has greatly depreciated in value, including Wash waterworks and other issues."

Causing Excitement PITTSBURGH, July 7.—The failure caused excitement in financial circles here. The closing followed three weeks' examination by federal examiners. Reassuring statements to the effect that depositors will be protected when the bank's affairs are liquidated out have been issued.

PRISONERS ORDERED BANKS CLOSED WASHINGTON, July 7.—The First and Second National Banks of Pittsburgh were closed by order of the Wilson administration in order to protect the "little fellows." Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, it was stated, this afternoon, interfered to make certain that all depositors receive equal treatment. It is intimated that "before hand" action will be the fixed policy of the Wilson administration.

BUNCO WITNESS CONFESSES PERJURY

Alleges Burns Man Induced Him to Swear Falsely Against Police Grafters

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—A sworn declaration that he committed perjury at the direction of William A. Mundell, manager of the Pacific division of the Burns Detective Agency, in testifying against Sergeant Arthur McPhee, and Patrolman Charles Taylor, convicted of accepting bribes in connection with the Italian bunco ring, was made in District Attorney Pickert's office today by Louisiano Rovigo. He declared Mundell offered to save him from being sent to New York to face a murder charge if he would testify.

Pickert promises a thorough investigation, threatening to prosecute Mundell on a charge of subornation of perjury. Mundell declares that Pickert is merely taking an unusual method to divert attention from his office because he knows the Burns men are investigating the district attorney's office. McPhee and Taylor were found guilty. They were to be sentenced today. Officials claim to have found other alleged irregularities.

Frank Dubers, another bunconman, told Patrolman La Place today that he had "framed up" his story on the stand against McPhee because McPhee once prevented him from turning a $20,000 bunco trick. This information, with Rovigo's declaration was taken immediately to Attorney Brady, counsel for the convicted men, who asked the court for a stay of sentence until Wednesday. This was granted.

ARGUMENT FOR PROTECTIVE TARIFF

Bulletin on Lemon Industry of This State Shows its Importance

ORANGE COUNTY HAS 10,000 ACRES AVAILABLE

Italian Growers Have Big Hold on the Far Eastern Section Market

Some of the best arguments yet advanced for a protective tariff on lemons are contained in a bulletin just issued by the Citrus Protective League, entitled, "The California Lemon Industry." The bulletin, No. 9, in the league's series, was prepared by former Secretary and Manager Powell, assisted by the present secretary, F. O. Walschaeger, as a companion bulletin to the one issued some months ago on "The Italian Lemon Industry." It therefore carries more conviction than would a bulletin primarily intended as an exposition of tariff arguments.

According to figures contained in the bulletin, the lemon growing industry of this state is just graduating from its swaddling clothes. There are 24,440 acres of bearing and 8001 acres of non-bearing lemon trees in the state, while 95,850 additional acres in the state are adaptable to lemon growing.

As Powell spent several months last year charting the available additional lemon acreage of the state, his figures are perhaps the last word on the subject. They show that Ventura county has 30,000 acres on which lemon growing would be profitable, while the San Fernando Valley is a close second with 20,000 acres. The other available acreage is as follows: Orange county, 10,000; Upland-Cucomunga district, 10,000; Tulare county, 2000; Los Angeles county, excluding the San Fernando Valley, 5000; San Diego county, 4000; Riverside county, 2000; Corona district, 1750; San Antonio district, including the region from Azusa to Pomona, 1600.

Though lemon shipments from this state increased from 878,600 boxes in 1901-2 to 2,145,500 boxes in 1911-12, figures in the bulletin show that 85 per cent of the crop is marketed in a district west of a line drawn from Montreal through Pittsburgh and Cincinnati to Houston. East of this line, the Italian lemon growers, represented by a most aggressive organization in New York—some of whose lobbying activities were revealed last week by Powell in testimony before the Senate Lobby Investigating Committee, have nearly absolute control of the market.

This is because the Italian growers, with their low production costs, combined with low freight rates, can lay down their product east of this line at a figure that California growers can scarcely touch. The Italian and California growers do not meet on a footing of equality until after one has crossed the Missouri River. A line drawn half way between Milwaukee and Minneapolis to Kansas City and then southward to just west of El Paso marks the exact line where the ledger cost of California and Italian fruit is equal.

With the lemon duty lowered to 1/2 cent a pound, as the Democrats now intend, the California growers may shortly expect to find their advantageous selling territory confined to the Pacific Slope. With the Italian growers paying a duty of 66 2/3 per cent lower than they now pay, a recurrence to the depressing years between 1902 and 1904, when many lemon growers in this state found it advisable to either plow up their trees or graft them to oranges, is hinted at in the bulletin.

QUEEN CHANGES MIND AS TO TANGO DANCE

LONDON, July 7.—After declaring an embargo on the tango and similar new dances, Queen Mary last week was induced by Mrs. Marshall, whom she has employed as dancing mistress, to view the dances properly danced. The result was that the queen decided them unobjectionable and announced that Princess Mary may learn them.

IOWA TO CELEBRATE PROGRESSIVE BIRTHDAY

DES MOINES, Ia., July 7.—The anniversary of the birth of the Progressive party will not pass unnoticed by the Iowa members of the party, according to an announcement made by J. H. Wyllie of Sigourney, state chairman.

Plans are under way for a number of district and county rallies on August 5, when the new party will begin the second year of its existence. Former Governor Walter R. Stubbs of Kansas and a number of other noted orators in the party's ranks will be speakers for this occasion.

SAYS COUNTY OUGHT SOON BUILD NEW JAIL OR MAKE CHANGES IN ONE NOW USED

State Board Representative Criticises Some of the Arrangements For Care of Prisoners

A letter criticising the Orange County jail has been received by the Board of Supervisors from the State Board of Charities and Corrections. That letter states that the county ought to make numerous changes in the interior of the jail, and intimates that it will not be long before the county will have to build a new jail or make extensive changes in the one now in use.

The Orange County jail was built in 1888. Less than a year ago several thousand dollars were spent in improving the building. A representative of the State Board of Charities and Corrections was here while the work was in progress, and it was thought then that the changes were all that the state board would desire. If that impression was given, it was erroneous, for the state board has a lot of things to suggest. The letter received today follows in full:

Dear Sirs:—We have recently made an inspection of your county jail and desire to call your respectful attention to the conditions which are as follows:

1. There is no proper provision for the classification of felony prisoners, as they cannot be locked in individual cells during day or night, owing to the fact that there is but one toilet provided for this entire department. This is a serious defect and in an emergency might prove to be a dangerous situation.

2. The arrangement of the misdemeanor ward is far from being satisfactory. In the first place this large cage should be constructed of steel and be divided into cells so that in case of necessity, individuals might be locked up from the balance of prisoners. In the second place, the present style of wooden bunks are undesirable and should be replaced by folding steel hammocks such as at present are in use in the felony department. In the next place there is but one toilet for this whole department, which is decidedly inadequate for the needs of this section.

I think this cage could be divided off into cells, a toilet put in each cell and the folding steel hammocks added, at no very large amount of expense.

It is evident that in the near future, Orange county must improve its present jail building or construct a new one. The improvements that you have quite recently made are good and were much needed, but you have not gone far enough yet to make of it a good jail and provide for the proper protection to jailers and the necessary safety of prisoners.

I think about forty steel hammocks would be needed to replace the present wooden bunks.

Another improvement that would greatly help your jail would be the construction of a skylight over the misdemeanor ward. This would materially help in the lighting of this ward, which is now dark and would provide better ventilation also.

We appreciate the fact that you have just been to some expense in the improvements that you have made and we do not want to criticize you too severely, but the suggestions made here are badly needed and we hope that your honorable board will see the necessity of making the improvements suggested. Orange county is prosperous and should not fail to do as much as some of the smaller counties are doing in this line.

Hoping that this may be of service to you in the improvement of your jail, I am,

Very sincerely yours,
F. T. HERRICK, Chief Clerk.

TWO CHIEF WITNESSES IN MACDONALD ACTION GONE FROM THE STATE

The two principal witnesses in the R. C. Macdonald felony case have left the state. They are Mrs. Hambleton and her daughter, Miss Helen Hambleton, the girl whom Macdonald was charged with having wronged. They lived at 1039 West Third street. About two weeks ago Mrs. Hambleton sold her property to Fred Franke, her furniture to Williams' store, and she and her family left the city. The report among the neighbors is that they went to Denver, Colo.

The departure at this time with the knowledge that they doubtless possessed that Macdonald would like to be tried again, coupled with information that Mrs. Hambleton had expressed her intention not to testify against Macdonald again, calls for particular attention on the part of the district attorney's office.

Macdonald was principal of the McKinley school, where the girl was a pupil. Mrs. Hambleton swore to a complaint charging Macdonald with a felony, the 14-year-old daughter of the complainant being named in the complaint. The first jury disagreed. The second trial resulted in Macdonald's conviction and his sentence to twenty-five years in San Quentin. In both trials the woman and her daughter were witnesses.

An appeal was taken and the appellate court reversed the lower court. The district attorney's office has applied for a rehearing, this time in the supreme court, and there is a possibility that the highest court of the state may sustain the superior court of this county, thus defeating Macdonald in his effort to get a new trial. The reversal by the appellate court was upon a remark made by Judge

West to Attorney Epstein in which the judge spoke of the demeanor of the girl upon the stand as modest. The supreme court may decide that the appellate court erred in ordering a new trial.

This phase of the situation was not known here, where it has been generally understood that a new trial would have to be had.

About a month ago District Attorney West received information that Mrs. Hambleton had stated that she did not care to prosecute Macdonald further. It was a matter, however, in which Mrs. Hambleton had no control, and should she not be reached for another trial the testimony given by her and her daughter can be read to a jury.

Deputy District Attorney Koepsel did not know until today that Mrs. Hambleton and the girl had left the state. Inquiry in the neighborhood brought forth little information further than that the family moved away about two weeks ago, supposedly to Colorado. It is said that the mother wanted to go some place where the case is not known.

Koepsel is confident that the witnesses can be located and brought back here for the trial, in the event that a new trial is finally ordered. Should prosecution here finally fail, Macdonald will probably be taken to San Luis Obispo county for trial on a similar charge there, the district attorney of that county having sent word here that he would prosecute Macdonald if conviction was not secured here.

Macdonald is now in San Quentin, where he was taken immediately after sentence.

MARTIN FALLS INTO LAKE RESCUED BY PASSING BOAT

CHICAGO, July 7.—Aviators Glenn Martin and Charles Day of California plunged fifty feet into Lake Michigan today when the Martin hydro-aeroplane turned turtle.

Both were rescued by excursion boats. Martin was testing the craft, which he expected to use tomorrow in the Chicago-to-Detroit race. Martin ignored the advice of friends not to fly in the high wind.

Some of these printed recipes," said Mrs. Lapsing, "are very puzzling. What can you make of this one, for instance, as a wash for the hands? 'Glycerin, forty parts; carbolic acid, one part; vinegar, quantum suffragit.'"

IMPERSONATION TO BE MADE FELONY

Senate Bill Goes After Lobbyists and Those Who Pass as Congressmen

LAUTERBACH WRITHES ON WITNESS STAND

Admits He Made False Statements in Regard to Trust Investigations

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The "insidious lobby" probe was resumed by the Senate committee today. The first witness was Edward Lauterbach of New York, an attorney.

In the Senate today Cummings of Iowa introduced a bill making impersonation of federal officers a felony punishable by a maximum penalty of five years' imprisonment or $5000 fine, or both. The bill is believed to have been inspired by the case of David Lamar, the New York stock broker, who admitted before the probers that he impersonated congressmen and others in telephone conversations.

One section is aimed at conditions disclosed by Martin Mulhall of Baltimore, former agent of the National Association of Manufacturers, concerning influence peddling. The bill makes it an offense to improperly influence a member of Congress or to speak or write a false statement that such influence has been brought to bear.

Lauterbach was nervous when he took the stand. Chairman Overman read him the testimony of Lewis Ledyard, declaring Lauterbach claimed he represented Speaker Clark, Senator Stone, and other Democratic leaders. Lauterbach formally waived immunity. He then read his original testimony. He denied he had knowledge of Lamar's impersonations of public men in telephone communications with financiers and others.

Lauterbach said: "Lamar was my friend. I realized I had lost almost my entire law practice because of his friendship for me but I know he is honest. I met Ledyard February 6th. His story of our first meeting is substantially correct."

He denied that he told Ledyard that Lamar was a blackmailer. He insisted he did not represent Clark, Stone, or anyone else in authority. He admitted he had exaggerated the situation to Ledyard.

Senator Reed put the witness through a trying examination, the witness becoming confused and occasionally contradicting himself. He admitted he lied when he told Charles Steele of the Morgan company he could state "with authority" that Taft opposed investigation of the steel trust. Under examination he admitted that he had been in constant communication with Lamar.

WOULD DIVIDE LARGE TRACTS

Col. Weinstock Thinks He Has Solved Rural Credits Problem for California

PARIS, July 7.—In an interview here today Col. Harris Weinstock of Sacramento, Calif., who is in Europe investigating rural credits systems, declared he believes he has solved the problem for California. He thinks the solution lies in the division of the immense California tracts into small farms and the erection on each of a suitable dwelling, each to be sold to homeseekers on small cash payment on fifty-year amortization. Interest of six per cent to be charged, of which one per cent or more is to be applied to the principal. The state to take active charge of such apportionment of lands if the people so desire.

He said he will attempt to interest his friends independently upon his return to California. Col. Weinstock recently returned from Sicily, and says he believes the Sicilians, despite the fears of Californians, will prove an excellent class of immigrants on the completion of the Panama Canal.

PENFIELD OF PENNSYLVANIA GIVEN AUSTRIAN EMBASSY

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Frederick Penfield of Pennsylvania was today nominated by President Wilson as ambassador to Austria.

CAN NOT FIND HIS RELATIVES

Bakersfield Report Gives Parents' Names as T. L. and Mary Miller

Bakersfield, Cal., July 6, 1913. To Register, Santa Ana, Cal.
Man brought in from Mojave gave the name T. L. Miller as supposed to be the deceased's father. Initials "P. L. M." and "P. L. R." Gave name of Mrs. Mary Miller as mother. Weight about 160 pounds; height 5 feet, 7 inches; dark sandy hair; smooth shaved.

TEMPLETON & CO.

The above telegram was received by the Register today from the coroner's establishment at Bakersfield. From this telegram it appears that the initials "T. L." and "P. L." have become mixed, leaving it uncertain which initials are intended.
Diligent inquiry has failed to discover the whereabouts of the relatives of the P. L. Miller who was run over by a Southern Pacific train at Mojave Friday. The man was supposed to have relatives in this city but all search for them has been fruitless so far. It was thought for a time that he was the son of S. T. Miller of 602 East Sixth street, but this did not prove to be true. The dead man had no finger missing, while the son of S. T. Miller has one gone, and S. T. Miller's son was not tattooed on the right forearm as the dead man was. The Santa Ana man went north last week to see the automobile races and has not returned, but it is hardly possible that he was in Mojave at the time of the accident.
From this description it was thought he might be a ranch hand who worked for a rancher at Tustin last year. This man had parents living in Grand Junction, Colorado, but these have not been heard from.

THROWN DOWN ENBANKMENT AND KILLED

Runaway 4th of July Caused Death of Orange Resident and Young Woman

ORANGE, July 7.—Details of the accident that led to the death of William C. Shell of Orange at Havilah, Kern County, have just been received here. Shell was in a rig with three other persons when the horses ran away down a grade. Shell and Miss Mattie Swanson of Llano, Tex., went off the grade in the rig and fell down an embankment 100 feet.
Shell's wife and four children live at Orange. Shell has been away a great deal at work in the mines. For a time he was in Colorado. Recently he has been superintendent of a mine at Havilah.

The Bakersfield Echo of yesterday morning contains the following account of the tragedy:
"The names of the victims of the runaway accident on the Bodfish grade Friday were: William C. Shell, aged 45, and Miss Mattie Swanson, aged 23.
Miss Swanson was visiting at Kernville with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Homer, from her home in Llano, Tex., where her parents, who are well to do, reside. Shell was a miner by occupation and was employed at Isabella by J. H. Homer, who owns the Homer mine near there. Shell is survived by a wife and four children, who reside in Orange. His body was shipped to Los Angeles last night and the remains of Miss Swanson were shipped to Texas.
"Deputy Coroner A. H. Dixon held the inquest at Isabella yesterday the verdict being that both came to their death from a fracture of the skull and internal injuries.
"Shell, Miss Swanson and Mr. and Mrs. Homer of Havilah were driving down the grade to the July Fourth celebration at Isabella at the time of the accident. They were driving a two-horse team hitched to a light buggy and had reached Isabella's hill when the horses became frightened and ran away. The breeching broke, letting the buggy come down on their heels, which caused them to run. Mr. and Mrs. Homer jumped from the rig but Miss Swanson and Shell remained in the buggy when it plunged over the embankment a hundred feet below. Miss Swanson was killed immediately but Shell lived for an hour. Louis Lavers found them and took the party to Isabella."

All fear that the accident, which resulted in a deep gash on Mrs. Bixby's forehead and a sprained ankle, might prove serious owing to her advanced age, was laid at rest by Dr. A. C. Sellery, the attending physician, who assured members of the family that his patient was in excellent condition and that no complications were expected.

FRIEDMANN CURE TO BE LEADING TOPIC OF HOMEOPATHISTS

DENVER, Colo., July 7.—The Friedmann "cure" for tuberculosis, its efficacy in treating the white plague, and the general feeling of the medical profession towards the German's discovery will be the principal subjects discussed during the sixty-ninth annual convention of the American Institute of Homeopathy which opened its sessions here today. The convention will be in session until July 12. Between 1500 and 2000 physicians from all parts of the United States, Canada and South America are in attendance. The Institute is the oldest medical society in the United States. One of the features of the convention which attracted many visitors today is an exhibition of medical supplies, and instruments for all sorts of operations.

LONG BEACH, July 7.—Mrs. Jotham Bixby, Sr., wife of the millionaire founder of Long Beach, who was injured in an automobile accident near Alhambra Saturday, is resting easily at her home on East Ocean avenue, Long Beach.
All fear that the accident, which resulted in a deep gash on Mrs. Bixby's forehead and a sprained ankle, might prove serious owing to her advanced age, was laid at rest by Dr. A. C. Sellery, the attending physician, who assured members of the family that his patient was in excellent condition and that no complications were expected.

BEET DUMPS MADE READY FOR HARVEST

New Screens Are Put In at Ysidora and New Dumps Built in Valley

Oceanside Blade: A crew in the employ of the Southern California Beet Sugar Company has been at work the past week fitting up the beet dumps at Ysidora for the summer campaign. On the two dumps the new screens have been put in. These are made of pipe and the loads from the beet wagons are dumped upon them as they are tipped into the cars. The dirt in the beets goes through the screens into a special receptacle and is then weighed and the weight deducted from the gross weight of the wagon load of beets. In this way the company does not pay for the dirt in the beets.

The hand dump at this point is being torn down and will be set up at Las Flores.

ATHLETE IS DISQUALIFIED

Orange Boy Crossed in One Event and Chances of Winning It Destroyed

CHICAGO, July 7.—Dr. C. C. Cook of the Chicago Athletic Association won the pentathlon here yesterday, the concluding feature of the eight days of the international athletic games. Cook won with nine points. He was hard pressed by F. W. Kelly of the University of Southern California, who was disqualified, with E. V. Belote of the C. A. A., for failing to finish the 1500-meter run. Kelly protested that he was crossed by Belote in a manner which deprived him of all chance to defeat Cook.

Kelly won the javelin throw, was second in the broad jump and third in the discus throw and 200 meter dash. Cook was first in every event except the javelin, where he finished fifth, next to last. The javelin event was a gift to the California men, Kelly and C. F. Gannon of the Sacramento, Cal. Athletic Club, who took first and second with ease.

UNRESTRICTED IMMIGRATION

SEATTLE, Wash., July 7.—Radical changes in the immigration laws of the United States were demanded today by speakers before the sectional meetings of the Fortieth National conference of Charities and Correction, which convened here July 5.

Declarations that the present laws are letting in hordes of immigrants who can never be assimilated by this country were freely made by speakers. An important feature of today's meetings was an address by Charles W. Blumfeld, of the Pacific Coast Immigration Congress, who has just completed a special survey of Pacific coast conditions relative to defects in the immigration laws.

One of the delegates to the conference today declared that "advocates of a protective tariff are foolish to preach that doctrine and then refuse to fight for an 'immigration protective tariff' that will keep hordes of foreigners from coming to the country to replace American workers at pauper wages."

It was confidently predicted that the conference would pass resolutions demanding action by Congress tending toward remedying present evils in the immigration laws.

BELL IS DEAD FROM INJURIES

Body of Aviator Who Learned to Fly at Newport Beach Shipped South

Grover Bell, the aviator who learned to fly at Newport Beach under Glenn L. Martin of Santa Ana, for whom Bell was a mechanic for several months, is dead from the injuries received while making a trial flight at Kenilworth Park, Petaluma, on July 4. He died yesterday after having made a brave fight for life.

Bell was considered one of the best and most careful aviators in the southwest. He had made a remarkable record in his chosen work during the short time that he had been an aviator and was very popular in every meet in which he took a part.

His work was regarded as the type that would some day bring him fame as an aviator. The accident which resulted in his death occurred at Petaluma, where his biplane turned over while 100 feet in the air.

The body of the young aviator was shipped to Los Angeles last night and will be interred there by his parents.

SUCCESSFUL SOCIAL WAS GIVEN AT DELHI

DELHI, July 7.—The newly organized Sunday school at Delhi held its first social on Saturday evening, and it proved truly a success. A pleasant little program was ably carried out by members of the school, aided by friends. The proceedings commenced with the song, "I Love to Tell the Story," by the audience. This was followed by recitations by Mabel Nelson and tiny Frances Ritter, whose "piece," "In my Little Garden Bed," concluded with a tiny solo, which she rendered very sweetly. Eight boys and girls sang the "Sunbeam Song," and afterwards went through a patriotic flag drill. "America" followed, being sung lustily by the audience, standing.

Miss Mildred Webster proved her ability as an instrumentalist, by a charming piano solo, "Beautiful Star of Heaven." She also contributed a recitation and a vocal solo. Mr. Stevens led in prayer, after which Mr. W. H. Kelly gave several concertina solos, and the Misses Weaver sang Spanish songs. Both the solos and songs elicited hearty encores.

Mr. Stevens, who organized the Sunday school, recited a humorous Yankee piece, and gave a short, but very earnest address. The audience then sang "No, No, One." Miss Viola Hill, a missionary from Porto Rico, told, in Spanish, of her work there. Miss Grace Ritter, the superintendent of the Sunday school, spoke a few words showing appreciation of the interest shown by the audience. Mrs. Franklin accompanied on the piano. The program concluded by singing "The Star Spangled Banner," with concertina accompaniment, after which refreshments of cake and sherbet, donated by friends, concluded a very enjoyable evening. Many thanks are due to the large number of people present, many of whom came from Santa Ana.

A. J. Visel and A. W. Rutan of Santa Ana and Henry Myers of the San Joaquin started today for San Diego to join a party of thirty men who are going to Magdalena Bay to inspect 1,000,000 acres of land. The land is held under option by a Los Angeles concern and the party is to be taken to the place with a view of making sales.

The Santa Anas are going armed with fishing rods as well as guns. Those in charge of the party do not expect to have any trouble with Mexicans. If they should, the men are all well armed.

The party leaves San Diego today in a chartered vessel, and will be gone two or three weeks.

MAN IN LOS ANGELES JAIL DECLARES HE MURDERED 7 PERSONS IN EAST FOR COIN

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—George W. Allen, arrested in Venice charged with giving a fictitious check for the purchase of a Japanese store, confessed to the Venice police last night that Allen was not his real name and that he had slain seven persons. He signed a confession giving details in full. He gave his real name as Simon P. Helfenstine.

The confession says his home is at Bell Center, O., where his mother is living.

The first persons named in the confession as having been slain by him are Captain Dietrich and his wife at Bellefontaine, O., on or about May 15, 1896. He says he secured $3000 from a chest in the back room of their home. The statement declares that Helfenstine slew Joe Finkbine at Springfield, O., and secured $2500. This was on July 22, 1905. The next crime confessed by him was that of A. C. Fletcher and Carl Butler at Kenton Pike, O., for $1500 on September 5, 1909.

In December of 1909, Helfenstine declares, he made away with Frank Tyrrell of Brooklyn avenue, New York. He also states that he ended the life of Pearl Bryant of Toledo, for which he was paid $1000 by two medical students.

Helfenstine asserts that the rewards offered for his arrest aggregated $10,000. He says that a John Blaney was arrested and charged with the slaying of Captain and Mrs. Dietrich, but that he was not convicted; that no one was arrested on account of the slaying of Finkbine. He says that he drove a buggy containing the bodies of Fletcher and Butler onto a railroad track in order to make it appear that they were run over by a train, and so escaped suspicion of having caused their demise. The body of Tyrrell, he says, was never identified, and was buried as unknown.

Walling and Jackson, the two medical students who hired Helfenstine to slay Pearl Bryant, were electrocuted for that crime, according to the confession.

The Venice police are of the opinion that Helfenstine is sane, and have wired for verification of his confession. Since he has confessed the man sleeps soundly and eats heartily. He says that he has lived for the last five years in Los Angeles under the name of Allen at 553 San Pedro street, and that he has worked as a cement contractor during the greater part of that time. He is fifty-two years of age.

Dr. Heard Discusses "The Two Salvations"

Pastor C. E. Heard of Vancouver, B. C., preached a striking sermon at the Bell theater yesterday. He spoke enthusiastically to an audience which showed intense interest in his presentation of "The Two Salvations."

Dr. Heard pointed out that those who claim that God has been trying for 6000 years to save the world must either acknowledge He has made a failure or they have been ascribing a wrong purpose and course of action to Jehovah, for "darkness covers the earth and gross darkness the heathen" and notwithstanding all the revival and missionary work done, not more than one in a thousand has become a true saint. Dr. Heard then showed that the Scriptures clearly set forth two salvations. Entirely separate and distinct. They are different as respects time in that one "began to be spoken by our Lord" at His first advent, and was first applicable to the church at Pentecost, and will wholly cease at His second coming in the end of this age.

The other salvation neither applied before our Lord's first advent nor during His Gospel Age but will apply to all mankind, except the Church, during the millennium—the thousand years of the reign of Christ and the Church—designed especially for the world's blessing and uplift. These two salvations are to be distinctly different as to kind as well as respects their plan of operation.

The salvation of the church during the present age provides for "eternal life on the heavenly or spiritual plane, and not on the human or earthly plane of existence, but they shall share the Divine nature like our Lord and Redeemer. The world's salvation which will follow is to be wholly different, for it will not include a change from the earthly or human nature to the spiritual, but will mean a rescue or restoration from sin and death to the earthly perfection of the original man in the image and likeness of His Creator, surrounded by every necessity, blessing and comfort. Human perfection in the Edenic home having been lost through disobedience, the Divine argument for mankind shall fully cancel the death sentence now resting upon all, for "He is the propitiation for our (the Church's) sins, and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world."

The New Covenant, which was sealed by Jesus' blood, will go into effect under him as the Mediator, when mankind will be called from the tomb and gradually (if they will) be brought back to all the glorious conditions lost in Eden, for "God will have all men to be saved and to come unto the knowledge of the truth" that they may have their full fair chance to gain eternal life, the final success of which will largely depend on their present character development. In conclusion the speaker urged upon his hearers the necessity of giving earnest heed to the study of the Bible, rather than the creeds originated by men during the Dark Ages and since, that thereby their faith in God may be increased and their joys made full.

HIGHLY COMMENDABLE

Workmen's compensation laws will do much to prevent litigation and distribute the burden of industrial injuries. But they do nothing toward restoring the 600,000 of killed and maimed men that factories, mines, and railroads turn out in this country in a year. Realizing the burden of this tax, the National Association of Manufacturers is to send out a six-car railroad train this summer through the great industrial centers, with exhibits and motion pictures to emphasize the dangers of industrial occupations, and the means for escaping them.

Experts say half the accidents are due to lack of safety devices, the other half to the typical carelessness of the American workmen. One authority says the American mechanic takes six times as many chances as the Englishman. Workmen who sometimes try to rig up extemporized devices to protect whirling knives and gears say they are decided by their fellow employees. When a bunch of men get together, they seem to dislike to display either fear or caution. Any one who is familiar with railroad work knows how the employees will jump rides on cars and engines, to save themselves five minutes walk.

One investigator found that in a recent year, 526 men were killed by industrial accidents in Allegheny county, Pennsylvania. Two thousand more came to hospitals for injuries. Of the latter number, one-fourth were permanently crippled. Every one of these cases was a tax on the community, besides plunging some family into poverty. A crippled father means that the children must go to work before they are fit for the shop, and before they have acquired any business intelligence or ideas of citizenship.

The manufacturers' accident train is a fine project, and every employer handling dangerous equipment should give his men regular talks about avoiding these perils.

KICKING A STUFFED SCARE-CROW

The Los Angeles Times of yesterday has one of the characteristic editorials on the administration of Gov. Johnson. This is devoted to the new state water commission and is marked by the particular brand of logic and special line of guttersnipe English for which the Times is famous.

The article makes the assumption that if a certain hypothetical water case were brought before the commission, a certain line of procedure would be followed and a certain decision rendered. Both the procedure and decision are idiotic, but unfortunately there are people who are so prejudiced or so misinformed that they will expect just that sort of thing to happen when the commission is organized and begins its work.

It is interesting to note, however, that exactly the same line of attack was directed against the enlarged railroad commission which has been provided for the state under the present reform administration. It has turned out, however, that the commission is saving the shippers and traveling public of the state something like $3,000,000 a year by orders which have reduced rates and enforced requirements for better service. The people of the state are delighted with the commission, the railroad admit the fairness, and even the reactionary newspapers have no criticism to offer.

Is there any reason to suppose that the water commission will not serve the same useful purpose in the field in which it will operate? Many friends of conservation in the state expect that it will render even more signal service to the people.

The Times has long since ceased to kick about on the editorial stage the straw man of the railroad commission that not very long ago it was lambasting so vigorously. It is now devoting its attention to a new stuffed scarecrow, and its arguments in this case are exactly of the same character as those it formerly vented on the railroad commission.—Riverside Press.

'ROUND THE SODA FOUNTAIN

It has been remarked that if the Mississippi river were to dry up, and all the soda water consumed in the United States should be turned into its bed the stream would carry on its saccharine bosom large ocean-going ships.

Anyway the soda fountain is a distinctively American institution. It has advanced both in splendor and substantial value during recent years. Formerly soda fountains were simple little cabinets. A few flavors were provided, usually vanilla, strawberry, chocolate, lemon and orange. The village girls knew them by heart, backward and forward. Those of epicurean habits varied the list by combinations, supposed to appeal to educated tastes.

Now millions are spent in marble, glitter, and statuary in the more costly resorts, which dazzle the eye and contribute to the sense of luxury. Right here in Santa Ana the soda fountains are perhaps the most artistic and beautiful and costly of all business house fixtures.

The old time product of this perennial fountain was a fizzy and windy mixture of honeyed sweetness, that temporarily seemed to assuage the thirst, but left a cloying taste behind. The modern fountain runs into more substantial foods. Enormous quantities of eggs, milk, buttermilk, and cream are dispensed. These not merely provoke a temporary sense of coolness, but supply real nourishment and sustenance.

The tremendous vogue of the soda fountain is an evidence of the growth of temperance sentiment. It is far less marked in Europe, where use of intoxicating liquors is more general. In this country there are a host of people, without desire to criticize temperate persons who think differently, who have a sincere preference for the water wagon. It takes no bromo-salters to clean up the effects of strawberry ices, and no dull brown feeling follows the refreshing glass of egg and milk.

FIGHTING DANGEROUS DRUGS

If the measures proposed by the International Opium Conference in session at The Hague are to be effective, every state in this union must help fight the growing habit of using opiates.

In most states in this country, if an opium fiend finds his supply low, he can borrow or steal a doctor's prescription pad. Then he goes to the next city, writes a prescription, and gets his demand filled at any drug store. A favorite trick is to print a fake letterhead indicating that the sender is a druggist. It goes to some distant manufacturer, usually it works. In Jersey City children recently were buying cocaine of peddlers.

There is profit in dangerous drugs. They don't cure a trouble, simply become indispensable. There is little profit in a remedy if a regular customer is lost by effecting a cure.

It is natural for almost any one to try to stimulate ebbing vitality and ease pain by opium and cocaine. The latter gives a half hour's capability for intense effort, so is often used by athletes.

A terrible price of moral, mental, and physical ruin is paid. The drug makes the exemplary mother indifferent to her children, it turns a gentleman into a thief, and the shrewd businessman into a pauper.

The physician who uses a hypodermic syringe freely does injustice to his patients. The remedy seems easy. Next time it hardly seems worth while to see a doctor. Often a boy of fifteen can buy a hypodermic syringe as easily as a jack-knife. These soft consolations seem for a moment to separate the victim from sorrow by a veil of silk. Soon this veil divides the taker from normal happiness by a wall of steel.

LOCKJAW THREATENED

VENTURA, July 7.—John W. Newby of Sateioy is lying in this city at the Philbrick residence on Ventura avenue engaged in a fight for his life from tetanus. Mr. Newby pierced his foot with a nail a week ago. The wound healed rapidly and naturally apparently, and nothing more was thought of it. But day before yesterday his jaws set rigidly, partially opened, and he came to this city to secure medical aid as soon as possible. Several physicians have been working over him and watching at his bedside night and day, and yesterday three injections of tetanus serum were administered.

DON'T LIKE THE HEAT

PASADENA, July 7.—The weather is driving Pasadenans into the mountains in large numbers. There was a general exodus yesterday in the direction of the cool canyons and breezy peaks and many more have planned to go this morning. Automobiles are being made into camping vehicles with the addition of tent poles and canvas and about half the cars that passed through the city yesterday were loaded with blankets and frying pans.

NEWSY NEWS FROM NEW YORK

By Carlton Ten Eyck

NEW YORK, July 7.—Probably nowhere in the world do folk burn the candle at both ends as they do in New York. Several hundred thousand men and women work all night throughout the city, and places of amusement and recreation run half the night. The very latest thing in "night life," though, is tennis by night. Up on Riverside Drive and in several other places they now have tennis courts brilliantly illuminated by electricity, and games are played until midnight or later. Players gather there from all parts of Manhattan and there is always a big gallery made up of the apartment house dwellers who seek the Drive for a bit of fresh air.

In the hot months thousands of those who go for amusement and sea air to Coney Island remain on the beaches until the wee sma' hours, and it is down before they get back to town. The cabarets and restaurants where there is dancing keep open until Inspector Dwyer's men compel them to close. Throughout the entire night, in summer, automobiles are scurrying up and down Broadway, through Central, Van Cortland and Bronx parks and all over Long Island, filled with men and women taking the cool night air.

Even the church has turned night into day after a fashion, several of the downtown Catholic and Episcopal institutions having inaugurated special masses and services at 3 a. m. and 4 a. m. for night workers. A few of those who work while the average citizens sleep are the crews that run the all night cars of the subway, elevated and surface lines; waitresses, cooks and waiters in the all night restaurants; the police and detectives of the night shift; the morning newspaper men, reporters, editors, printers, pressmen and those in the circulation end of the business; night telephone and telegraph operators, and the city firemen on night duty. Other night laborers that the public thinks little about are the armies of clear-women that care for the skyscrapers and office buildings. Thousands of women scrub and mop, clean out waste-baskets and sweep the corridors of the big buildings all night. And the newsmen must not be forgotten. There is not an hour in the twenty-four when newspapers may not be bought on the streets of New York.

Mayor Gaynor or Inspector Dwyer or Epileptus or whoever it was that resurrected that 1 a. m. closing law, polished it up and put it back into practice, has put a considerable kink in that part of town around Longacre Square, sometimes called the Upper Tenderloin. "Regulation folk sometimes call it the White Light district, but the "regulators" can see nothing but blue light in those parts these days.

That ancient landmark, the Green Turtle, in Forty-fourth street, with-drew into its shell the other day and closed its doors for all time. The next day the newer Tokio, an ornate eatery and drinkery in Forty-fifth street, shut shop and its demise was quickly followed by that of the Lobster Palace further up the street. The Foodie Dog, a few blocks to the south, is in rough seas, too, and all the others of that ilk have fallen on lean times. The proprietors blame it all on the rigid early closing that the mayor has enforced. Those restaurants were of the night-blooming variety, where the cabaret flourished as the green bay tree, and most of the refreshment served was in liquid form. The managers say that the 1 a. m. closing made it impossible for them to operate. Most of their patronage was the after-theater kind, they say, and people would not go to a place at midnight for a party when they were certain to be routed out an hour later, whether they had finished disposing of their food and drink or not.

It is freely predicted that several more of the lobster houses along the Alley will do an Arab stunt before long and silently steal away. The managers are bitter in their denunciation of the mayor and the police, alleging discrimination in favor of several restaurants, especially one near Forty-third street and Sixth avenue, that have all-night liquor licenses.

Perhaps there is nothing so typical of New York as the summer street crowds. Their curiosity is excited, and risibilities amused by almost anything deviating from the ordinary in the slightest degree. An illustrative incident happened the other day. A fire alarm sounded from Mall street and almost instantly, as though produced by Aladdin's lamp, a throng of more than 25,000 men and boys with a fair sprinkling of women and girls surrounded the place, coming from Broadway, Park Row and Nassau street. It was nothing but a blazing pot of tar, but the crowd watched it absorbedly until the honk-honk of a big touring car was heard at City Hall. Instantly the crowd forgot the tar barrel and looked in the direction of the new diversion. They saw a European opera singer with extraordinarily high heeled shoes and monogrammed hose of the sheerest silk, alighting at the entrance of the marriage license bureau. The fire was quickly forgotten and the 25,000 at once surrounded the front entrance of City Hall, where they waited until the high heels again lifted their fair owner into the tonneau.

FRUITS AND NUTS IN THE FOREIGN COMMERCE OF THE UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 7.—Fruits are a rapidly growing factor in the foreign trade of the United States. The value of the fruits and nuts passing through the custom houses of the United States in the fiscal year just ended approximates 90 million dollars, and is twice as great as that of a decade ago. The exports of the fiscal year 1913 amount to 37 million dollars, speaking in round terms, against 18 million in 1903, a decade earlier; and the imports approximate 42 million dollars against 24 million in 1903. These figures do not include the trade with Hawaii and Porto Rico, which sent to continental United States over 65 million dollars' worth of fruits and nuts during the last fiscal year.

Fruits exported are chiefly apples, pines, apricots, raisins, and oranges, and go largely to Europe and North America; while those imported are chiefly bananas, lemons, olives, currants, and grapes. The imports of nuts, almonds, walnuts, cocoanuts, and coconut meat, are drawn principally from the tropics.

Of the 37 million dollars' worth of fruits exported during the year apples alone amounted to about 11 million dollars in value, of which about 8 million were in their natural state and about 3 million dried. Europe takes the bulk of apples, both green and dried, having taken in 1912, for which period complete figures are at hand, over four-fifths of the total. England is by far the largest purchaser of the fruit in the natural state, having taken, in 1912 23 million dollars' worth of green apples, against three-fourths of a million dollars' worth by Scotland, three-fourths of a million by Canada, and one-half a million by Germany. Of the dried apples exported, Germany is by far the largest purchaser, having taken, in 1912, 2 1-3 million dollars' worth, against 1 1/2 million dollars' worth by the Netherlands and a quarter of a million dollars' worth by Belgium. Prunes are the next largest item in the exports of domestic fruits, amounting to over 6 million dollars in value in 1912, and of these Germany is the largest purchaser, having taken about 2 million dollars' worth in 1912, against three-fourths of a million dollars' worth by France, a half million dollars' worth by Belgium, and a half million dollars' worth by England. The growth in exports of prunes has been very rapid, the quantity exported in the current year amounting to 110 million pounds against 66 million in 1903, a decade earlier. Raisins show a still larger growth in exports, the quantity exported in 1913 being about 28 million pounds against 4 1/2 million in 1903. Canada takes more than one-half of the total exportations. Canned fruits exported amount to about 6 million dollars' worth in 1913, and these go chiefly to Europe.

Fruit imports, as already indicated, are chiefly bananas, lemons, olives, currants, and grapes; the banana imports for the fiscal year just closed amounting to about 14 million dollars and coming principally from Central America and the West Indies. Figures for 1912, which do not differ materially from those of 1913, show from Jamaica 4 million dollars' worth, Costa Rica 2 1/2 million, Honduras a little over 2 million, Panama a little over 2 million, Cuba a little less than a million, and Colombia a little less than a half million dollars' worth. The value of banana imports was, in 1890, 4 1/2 million dollars; in 1900 a little less than 6 million; and in 1913, as above indicated, approximately 14 million. The lemon imports, which amount to between 3 and 4 million dollars annually, come almost exclusively from Italy, while nearly three-fourths of the 2 million dollars' worth of olives imported come from Spain. The million and a half dollars' worth of currants imported come principally from Greece, the 1 1/2 million dollars' worth of grapes chiefly from Spain, the nearly a million dollars' worth of figs, and the half million dollars' worth of dates chiefly from Turkey in Asia. Of the approximately 14 million dollars' worth of nuts imported, almonds are the largest single item, amounting to over 3 million dollars in value, and these come chiefly from Spain. The approximately 2 million dollars' worth of cocoanuts in the shell come chiefly from the West Indies and Central America; Jamaica and Trinidad supplying nearly one million dollars' worth, Honduras a quarter of a million dollars' worth, and Colombia a quarter of a million dollars' worth. Of the 2 million dollars' worth of cocoanut meat, broken (or "copra") imported, about one-half came from the Philippine Islands and approximately a half million dollars' worth from French Oceania.

The fruits and nuts received in continental United States from its non-contiguous territories—Porto Rico, Hawaii, and the Philippine Islands—amount in value to over 8 million dollars a year, of which approximately 4 million come from Hawaii (chiefly canned pineapples), over 3 million dollars' worth from Porto Rico (chiefly oranges and pineapples), and approximately a million dollars' worth from the Philippine Islands (chiefly cocoanut meat, broken, commercially known as "copra").

SOCIETY

HELEN KELLER COMING

Ebell Society Will Bring Noted Woman to Santa Ana Next March

The executive committee of the Ebell Society held a meeting Saturday afternoon at the call of the president, Mrs. A. J. Lawton, at the home of Mrs. C. A. Gustlin, for the purpose of considering the matter of bringing Helen Keller to Santa Ana for an evening lecture on March 13, 1914.

Miss Keller will tour the state during the month of March, giving lectures in all of the larger cities, and the Ebell Society has been fortunate in securing a date for Santa Ana.

The committee voted to have the evening lecture, and, if possible, to also have Miss Keller for the afternoon in order to give the school children an opportunity to hear her.

Pleasant Affair

Mrs. J. C. Varile, taking advantage of the anniversary of her birthday, delightfully entertained some of her friends at her beautiful residence, 601 East Walnut street, on the eve of July 4th. The home was tastefully decorated in red, white and blue, with blue hydrangea forming the motif, thus charmingly adding a tinge of patriotism to the occasion. The place-cards, ice cream and after dinner mints all bore the color scheme. A delicious three-course supper was served at 6 o'clock, after which the guests enjoyed the hospitality of their hostess by music and singing. The guests departed at a late hour after expressing the compliments of the season to their royal entertainer. Those present were Mesdames Cackler, Metz, Preston, Eberlein and Kelly, Misses Burson, M. Truscott, Grace Truscott, Dependahl, Lou Morgan, Hahn and Metz and Miss Siefert of Fullerton.

"Y's" Lawn Social

WINNER OF TRIP

Miss Ruth Inwood of Santa Ana One of Five to Go to Yosemite

Some time ago Mr. Wm. Sell, manager of Camp Ahwahnee in Yosemite Valley offered a ten days' trip to the valley to each of the five high school students in the state who wrote the best essays on the Yosemite. The essays were not to be more than twenty-five words above or below an average of 300, and were to be used in advertising the attractions and beauties of that magnificent region.

Last Saturday Miss Ruth Inwood, a member of this year's graduating class, and daughter of Rev. E. J. Inwood, received notice that she was one of the fortunate five to win the glorious trip.

Miss Inwood will start about July 12 or 15 and will spend ten days in the valley with the other four prize winners, as guests of Mr. Sell at Camp Ahwahnee. Numerous trail trips will be made to various points of interest, and everything will be done for the enjoyment of the party. The trip includes all transportation and hotel expenses, guides, horses and all privileges in the valley.

Santa Ana can be proud that such an honor has come to one of its high school students in a contest that was open to all schools in the state. It is, indeed, a great honor to be one of the five to win such a prize.

ATTEMPT TO "BEAN" CITY MARSHAL WARNER

Orange News: Marshal Warner is wondering who tried to pot him with a rock Thursday evening.

The marshal was standing in a yard at the corner of Chapman avenue and Olive street watching for early celebrators of the Fourth, when a rock, the size of a hen's egg, struck a tree beside him.

It had come from the direction of a vacant lot on the north side of the street and had been thrown with considerable enthusiasm, judging from its impact against the tree. The attacking party, however, had erred in his aim and failed to dent the minion of the law.

He succeeded, however, in lacerating said minion's feelings and the marshal made a dash in the direction from which the rock came. His assailant had vanished completely and no trace of him was to be found.

Orange News: Marshal Warner is wondering who tried to pot him with a rock Thursday evening.

The marshal was standing in a yard at the corner of Chapman avenue and Olive street watching for early celebrators of the Fourth, when a rock, the size of a hen's egg, struck a tree beside him.

It had come from the direction of a vacant lot on the north side of the street and had been thrown with considerable enthusiasm, judging from its impact against the tree. The attacking party, however, had erred in his aim and failed to dent the minion of the law.

He succeeded, however, in lacerating said minion's feelings and the marshal made a dash in the direction from which the rock came. His assailant had vanished completely and no trace of him was to be found.

SEEKING BEST ROUTE FOR MOTORISTS TO GREAT FAIR

F. G. Hogg and wife, of Birmingham, Alabama, and Prof. Weisbaug and George Riblet arrived in Santa Ana this morning from Louisville, Kentucky. The party is touring California in the interests of the automobile clubs of Kentucky and looking over the routes possible to the West. They are expecting between eight and fifteen thousand cars from the motor clubs alone to come to San Francisco during the fair in 1915.

Their route led them through the flood districts of Ohio and Indiana to Kansas City and then over the old Santa Fe trail to Pueblo and Denver, and then south to Albuquerque, Phoenix, Yuma and San Diego. They report extremely bad roads through Arizona and New Mexico and declare that if some thing is not done to improve them that all motorists will come over the Northern route for the fair, and the South will suffer a great loss.

From Santa Ana the party will go north to San Francisco and will then investigate the conditions on the Northern and Central routes. As they go along they map out all the roads and make note of all hotels, garages and such things that will be useful to motorists. They will spend their time until the fair in making preparations for the great crowd of motorists who are sure to come at that time.

So far on his trip Mr. Hogg has made a wonderful record in that he has spent only $1.18 for repairs for his Cadillac.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS FINDING OF BODY

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—The discovery of the body of Night Watchman Charles Brooks entangled in the machinery at the bottom of an elevator shaft of the Bumiller building is causing a police investigation. The man apparently was dead four days. The police believe the man was overpowered by robbers and thrown into the shaft.

SAN DIEGO CHARGES ALIEN SMUGGLING

SAN DIEGO, July 7.—Disclosures of wholesale smuggling operations carried on by local Japanese fishermen are reported today by the lookouts on Point Loma. They declare that with the aid of powerful glasses they frequently see sloops which come up from the south, meet other sloops which put out from the harbor. Then follows the transfer of passengers near the Coronado Islands. The vessels from the south then turn back and the local sloops enter the harbor in the early hours of the morning.

JACK LONDON HAS APPENDICITIS; MAY BE OPERATED UPON

OAKLAND, July 7.—There is no change today in the condition of Jack London, who is ill of appendicitis at the Merritt Hospital. London diagnosed his own case yesterday, when attacked by preliminary pains. He hastened to Oakland from his mountain home, going direct to the hospital. An operation will be performed tomorrow unless improvement is shown.

BROTHER DRAMATISTS PUT CHECK ON H. BERNSTEIN

PARIS, July 7.—Henry Bernstein, the playwright, who in May became director of his own theater where his own plays are produced at prices far higher than usual, even for Paris theaters, has had his power curtailed by the Society of Dramatic Authors to which he belongs. He will not be allowed to present more than one of his own plays each year. After that he is bound to produce the plays of his brother dramatists.

OHIO MAY MAKE VOTING COMPULSORY

COLUMBUS, O., July 7.—Despite the fact that his friends declare the plan chimerical, Governor Cox announced today that he will insist at the next session of the legislature on the passage of a compulsory voting law.

The governor believes there should be a penalty against the man who refuses or neglects to do his duty as a citizen. There will be exceptions for cases in which it is impossible to get to the polls.

Decorating the Eyebrows

It is generally agreed that a woman's eyebrows should be delicately and nicely penciled, but fancy plays strange freaks as to color. In central Africa women stain them with indigo, and Georgian damsels blacken theirs. Japanese ladies, when married, retrace their eyebrows altogether, so that their husbands may have no cause for jealousy.

ANOTHER SKELETON IS DUG UP ON SMITH RANCH NEAR TUSTIN

Party of Four Investigators
Unearths Bones in Indian
Burying Ground

There is now little question but that Chester Smith's ranch on Mitchell avenue, Tustin, was once an Indian burying ground. Yesterday another ancient skeleton was unearthed, the second within a week. Part of an Indian mortal was also found.

The first skeleton was dug up by men who were hauling gravel from the place. The one dug up yesterday was found by a party of four young men, bent upon exploration, investigation and discovery. With picks and shovels Chester Smith, Arthur Collins, Will McPherson and Arthur Bissell delved into the earth until at last they struck bones. Carefully they uncovered the specimens. Most of the skeleton was long since returned to dust. From the size of the bones and the condition of the teeth the archaeological investigators concluded that the skeleton was that of an adult. The skull crumbled, so that they could not say whether or not it resembled in shape the skull of an ape or an elephant.

GERMAN WOMAN SUFFRAGE BUND DOWN ON MILITANTS

LONDON, July 7.—"The women who use revolutionary methods are not only acting contrary to their own interests, but are doing incalculable harm to the interests they stand for," says a resolution of protest against militancy received by the W. S. P. U. headquarters in London from the German Bund for Women Suffrage, at Berlin.

"We are of the opinion that any application of force stands in direct contradiction to the views and aims of our movement. If the demand for an increase of social and political influence has seized the widest circles of our female population, we must take it as the result of the great economic changes which have taken place—the pressure of which cannot be increased by a policy of brutality."

"By copying the revolutionary methods which have been adopted by men, women destroy the quiet convincing force which supports their demands, and cause the movement to gain the character of an embittered fight between the two sexes—a fight for power."

DECLARES FIRING SURE PREVENTATIVE OF FROST DAMAGE

State Horticultural Commission Gives Out Interview on Tour

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—A. J. Cook, State Horticultural Commissioner, who has returned from a tour of the southern part of the state, including Orange county, on which he studied conditions in the citrus fruit industry, said that many of the worst insect pests had been destroyed by the recent frost. He found that lemons had suffered more severely than oranges, and that orchards not in good condition were damaged more than those well cared for.

"The facts are far from discouraging," said Cook, "as the brave demeanor of most of the sufferers demonstrates. We now know that there are few, if any, frostless locations in California; that firing is a sure preventative of loss, if the fire is lighted early and the oil pots kept supplied with fuel as long as safety demands. The frost was an actual gain to some orchardists, who were abundantly prepared for the conflict. In such orchards the temperature was raised twelve degrees, the fruit was saved and the growers are now getting enormous prices for their fruit."

WOMAN IS KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

SAN DIEGO, July 7.—By the overturning of an automobile near Ocean Beach late Saturday night Mrs. Ethel C. Masters, daughter of John S. Bradley of Los Angeles, was almost instantly killed. W. P. Baker, a local merchant, and W. T. Lakin, a traveling salesman for a Los Angeles firm, were the other occupants of the car.

Baker was so badly injured that his recovery is doubtful. Lakin wandered away in a dazed condition after the accident and was found yesterday morning in Balboa Park, miles from the scene of the mishap.

SHEEP THRIVE OVER FOUR MONTHS WITHOUT WATER

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Sheep on the Nebo national forest, Utah, go four and a half months without water except for such moisture as they get from the dew and the juices of forage plants.

Grazing sheep on a range entirely destitute of water is a recent innovation due to the increasing demand for forage and the efforts of the forest officers to find a place on the forest ranges for all the stock that can safely be admitted. The area on the Nebo which has now proved usable by sheep is high and rocky, a portion of it being above timber line, and it has neither springs nor streams of sufficient size or accessibility to be used for stock watering purposes. The grazing season lasts from June 15 to October 31, and during this period of four and a half months the animals do not get a drink.

Under such conditions, however, the sheep have done extremely well, and last year's lambs from this range had an average weight at the close of the season of 68 pounds on the Chicago market, which was rather above the normal weight from that vicinity.

In one area on the Targhee forest in Idaho sheep get water only twice during the four-month summer grazing season. There is no water on the range, but the sheep are driven to a nearby stream lower down the mountain side. Lambs from this range weighed 65 pounds on the Chicago market.

DRAMA ABROAD AND AT HOME

By Beau Rialto

NEW YORK, July 5.—Despite no end of failures, not only in New York but in all parts of the country, summer stock companies seem to have as many lives as the proverbial cat, and though stock companies after stock companies close, there is always a new creation to rise Phoenix-like from the ashes. Cora Peyton started a stock company in the ill-fated Park theatre which lasted all of two weeks, but immediately the musical players at the Academy of Music resolved themselves into a dramatic stock company and revived "Alias Jimmy Valentine." While the summer stock attractions which have chosen New York as the scene of their endeavors have nearly all curled up and died, out of town, in many New England cities, that form of summer amusement is flourishing like the green bay tree. To be sure, there is a reason for this and a good one. Broadway actors and actresses who could not be made to appear on Broadway for less than their regular season salaries at any time of the year, are not averse to playing six weeks or two months in summer stock companies out of town at salaries frequently not half what they receive in New York in winter. Dozens of men and women who top the profession in New York at three-figure salaries, can be found during the heated months in Hartford, Bridgeport, Springfield, Providence and Buffalo. These engagements may be in a measure "pot boilers" but they also benefit the actors. Those who have been cooped up on Broadway all winter get a chance to get a fresh air vacation while earning their board and also it is good for those who have played one role continuously through a season to brush up by learning a new part each week.

The stars do not all cling to the vicinity of New York for summer work. Marguerite Clark has been for some time appearing in St. Louis in a summer stock theatre bearing her name, and Mabel Taliaferro, divorced wife of Frederick Thompson, has just begun an engagement at Suburban Garden in that city. That was the first open air summer theatre to engage stars in the United States, and for years James K. Hackett, Amelia Bingham, Wilton Lackaye, Marguerite Clark and others of equal reputations have done summer work there with a permanent stock supporting company. Denver also attracts some of the leading lights of the Rialto in the hot months and some get as far west as Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The latest addition to summer stock amusement in the vicinity of New York is the aggregation at Long Beach headed by Edwin Arden and Mary to spend the Fourth in their home on second street.

GREEK ARMY SWEEP AWAY

Bulgars Claim Decisive Victory
Near Negrita—Servians Also Badly Worst

SOFIA, July 7.—The war office has issued a bulletin claiming an overwhelming victory over the Greeks between Negrita and Ambliokosi, as a result of maneuvers by General Ivanoff. It declares that eighty thousand Greeks were scattered, the majority captured and killed. General Dimitrieff said the coup was one of the most marvelous in military history. The defeated Greek army was under the personal command of King Constantine.

Admitted at Athens
ATHENS, July 7.—Government officials admit that ten thousand were killed or wounded in the Negrita engagements, but it is not conceded that the entire force was routed.

SERVIAN DIVISION

ALMOST WIPED OUT
VIENNA, July 7.—The Sofia correspondent of the Vienna Reichspost telegraphs that 11,000 of the Servian Timock division were killed in Sunday's battle when the Bulgarians almost obliterated the entire Servian command. Four thousand escaped. These were made prisoners. The Bulgars are reported to have captured the defenses of the Servians' line of retreat. The entire Servian army is in danger of destruction unless reinforced.

Denial by Servia
LONDON, July 7.—The Servian minister here denied the reports of the destruction of the Servian Timock division. He claims a Servian victory.

RUSSIA UNGRATEFUL TO PORT ARTHUR DEFENDER

ODESSA, July 7.—Physically and financially wrecked, General Stessel, the defender of Port Arthur, is reported to be on the verge of death in Moscow. For some time past he has been partly paralyzed, and a few days ago he entirely lost the power of speech. Lately his country estate and mansion had to be sold to pay his debts, and he is now being sheltered and maintained by an officer who served as his adjutant in the Russo-Japanese war.

HISTORIC ROBE FOR KING CONSTANTINE OF GREECE

ATHENS, July 7.—The monks of Mount Athos on the peninsula to the southeast of Salonica, which now belongs to Greece as part of the spoils of the Russo-Turkish war have decided to send to Athens the imperial robe and crown worn by the Byzantine emperors, to be used by King Constantine at his coronation next year. The robe, which is of beaten gold, weighs 50 pounds, and the crown contains enormously precious stones. Both historical relics have been kept in the great monastery of Lavra since the days of the Eastern Roman Empire.

MRS. WALLACE IS SUMMONED

Wife of Lieutenant-Governor
Passes Away After Illness of Two Years

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—Mrs. Alice Clark Wallace, wife of Lieutenant Governor A. J. Wallace, passed away yesterday afternoon at the family home at El Nido, La Cresenta. She had been in failing health from paralysis about two years.

Mrs. Wallace was born forty-eight years ago in Worcester, Mass., where she was married twenty-five years ago to Lieutenant Governor Wallace. The couple came to California shortly afterward, making their home in Los Angeles or vicinity since that time.

A woman of exceptionally charming personality, Mrs. Wallace was very popular in church and society circles of Southern California. She was a member of the West Adams Methodist church and was especially active in missionary work. She was a member of the Ebell Club.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Wallace is survived by four children, her mother and three sisters. The children are Kenneth C., a Harvard graduate; Donald J., an undergraduate at the same institution; Helen Harriet, 17, and Katherine, 16 years of age. Mrs. Wallace's mother is Mrs. Joseph S. Clark and her sisters are Mrs. Arthur Withersell, Miss Mary Clark and Mrs. Elizabeth Bryant. All were at the bedside when Mrs. Wallace passed away, her two sons having arrived here a few days ago.

WANTS CASE MOVED TO FEDERAL COURT

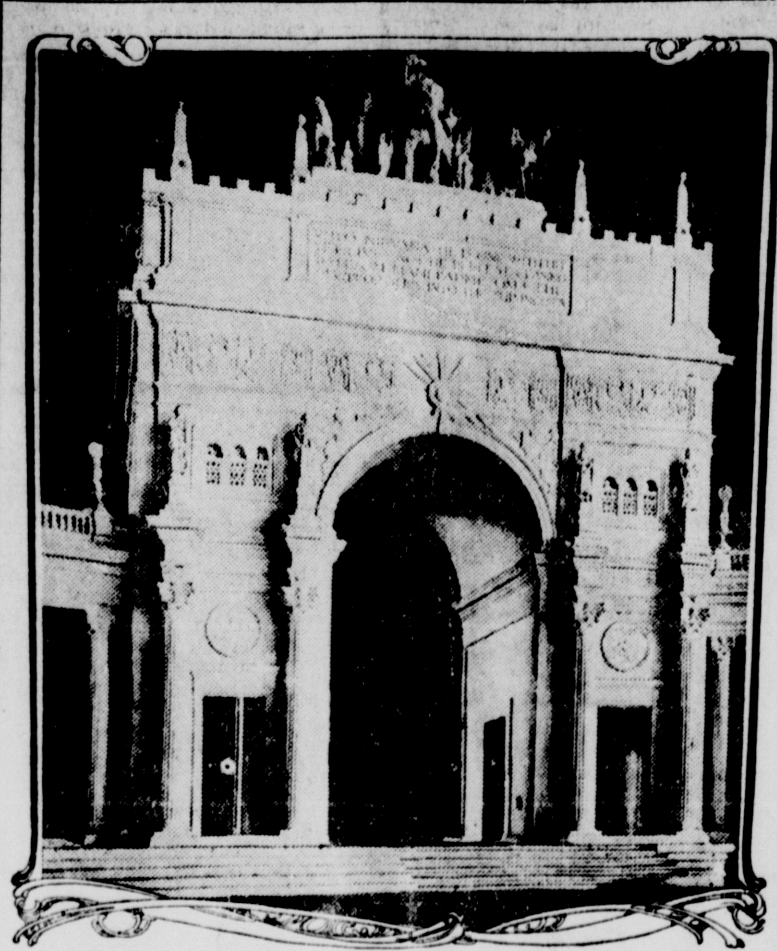

Surety Company Continues
Fight to Avoid Payment on Bond Given by It

The Guardian Casualty & Guaranty Co. does not want to have the case against it tried in this county, and has petitioned to have the case changed to the federal court on the ground that the corporation belongs to another state, Utah.

The surety company went on R. L. Hogue's bond when Hogue took a contract to build a bridge on West Fifth street. Hogue threw up the contract and the county had to complete the work through another contractor. The casualty company bond was $4500. The county is the plaintiff.

TRIUMPHAL ARCH AT THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION, SAN FRANCISCO, 1915.

TRIUMPHAL arch on the east side of the Grand Court of Honor, the Court of the Sun and Stars, at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, 1915. The Court of Sun and Stars in size will correspond to the place before the Cathedral of St. Peter at Rome. This triumphal arch, larger than the Arc de Triomphe at Paris, will lead into the great East or Festive Court. The size of the arch may be judged by the fact that the height of the archway will be ninety feet. The columns of the colonnade encircling the court will be sixty feet in height. The group surmounting the arch is composed of figures symbolical of the orient—elephants, Arab warriors and camels—the tallest figure being twenty-eight feet in height.

The estates, valued at $1000 each, consist of interest in a $25,000 piece of land. W. H. Thomas is attorney for the petitioner.

SADDLE ROCK MAN'S DISAPPEARANCE IS CAUSING WIFE WORRY

Last Thursday W. V. Jackson, proprietor of the Saddle Rock Cafe, opposite the post office, disappeared and as yet no word concerning him has been received by his wife. Mrs. Jackson, with the care of the restaurant and a baby a few months old to look after, has been unable to make any search for her husband, and is very much worried over failure to receive any word concerning him. Mrs. Jackson knows of no reason why Jackson should have left. On Thursday he drew a few dollars from the bank, which was not enough to last him over a day or two even had he contemplated leaving the city. Jackson never drinks and has never left the city before without telling his wife where he was going. Mrs. Jackson is much worried for fear that he has been injured some place and has been unable to get word to her.

WEDDING INTERRUPTED BY A DEPUTY SHERIFF

Under Sheriff Law stepped right up to the marriage license counter, threw Dan Cupid out of the way and took Joe Velos to jail. Velos is charged with eloping with 15-year-old Juana Herrera, and had not Law stopped proceedings County Clerk Williams would have had that job on his hand for the reason that the girl is under 18 and had no parent's consent.

Last Saturday Mrs. Herrera asked Law to help her find her daughter. She said she had eloped with Velos. Today Velos and the girl went to the clerk's office. Between them they could not talk enough English to answer all questions. Law was sent for as interpreter. He soon discovered that Velos was the man he wanted.

Gentle Suggestion
"Are you the young lady who used to recite 'Arrive Shall Not Ring To-night?'" asked the man who had tapped timidly at the door.

"Yes, but that was some years ago," replied the lady who had been vocalizing.

"I know it. But I notice that I haven't heard a single curfew since. I wanted to know if you couldn't fix up another recitation like it, only leaving out the curfew and putting in something about playing the piano."

Cooking Vegetables
When cooking vegetables remember that all vegetables which grow above ground should be put into boiling water, and all which grow underground in cold water—with the exception of new potatoes.
